

April 03, 2008

The Weekender

The Weekend Starts Here

FRIDAY FINDS

Fabrik Show

If you're not on the market for $80,000 jeans this week, maybe casual streetwear from Troy and Kanvis—both among the lines discounted by up to 80% at this two-day sale—will better suit you.

411: Apr 4-5, 11am-7pm, Apr 5, 10am-6pm, Siren Studios, 6063 Sunset Blvd (at Gower), Hollywood, 323-587-7778

SATURDAY STROLL

Brewery Art Walk

A rite of urban passage returns—two days, one hundred industrial lofts that make Astroturf-covered bathrooms seem perfectly normal, and countless pieces of art you can pull off the residents' walls and take home with you.

411: Apr 5-6, 11am-6pm, 2100 N. Main St (at Moulton), Downtown

SUNDAY SLEEPING IN

London West Hollywood

Now open in the completely redone hotel off the Sunset Strip: not much besides the large, loft-style rooms. But, coming soon—a rooftop pool, an English garden, a lobby-adjacent bar called Midnight on Sunset...and a restaurant from Gordon "Hell's Kitchen" Ramsay with five private dining rooms.

411: 1020 N. San Vicente Blvd (S. of Sunset), West Hollywood, 310-854-1111

TUESDAY TOAST

5-for-5 Wine Socials

Genial oenophile and man about town David Haskell, late of BIN 8945, has popped up in a sleek Pasadena hideaway to pour you five international wines for five bucks apiece, each paired with a small Mediterranean plate for the same price. Corral a party of five to attain true symmetry.

411: Every Tues-Thurs this month, 6-8pm, NeoMeze, 20 E. Colorado Blvd (at Fair Oaks), Pasadena, 626-793-3010

